

Fishing has always been integral to the Cornish way of life. Cornwall has 326 miles of coastline and 49 ports with a huge range of vessels sailing from the Cornish coast. The variety of seafood landed in Cornwall is staggering. From bass and haddock to crab, squid and scallops – 40 different species arrive on Cornish shores every day.

The Seafood industry is now a truly global market where quality is a key factor. Therefore, Seafood Cornwall collaborates with the fishermen, harbour authorities and fish merchants so that every fish landed is of the highest quality standard possible.
